Job Application for Junior Frontend Engineer

About Me

I am a software engineer with strong focus on web development. I started writing code when I was 14 years old and have been enthusiastic about it ever since.

As an EU citizen, I am eligible to work in Germany. I studied German in school up to a B1 level, and am currently studying on my own to refresh my knowledge.

Why Verity?

One of the things I love the most is making a real impact, and I think Camunda is a company that is actually shaping the future with technology, and a place where I see myself growing and adding value to the team.

On top of that, I want to set my and my family's lives in Germany and enjoy its culture, environment, and people.

For those reasons, and after reading about your work culture on your website, I think Camunda is a perfect fit for me.

Why Me?

I consider myself a hard working, ambitious, and reliable person in all aspects of my life.

Even though I have focused my studies mostly around frontend development, I love every area of software engineering, and I am eager to tackle challenges in projects that involve backend or are fullstack.

Sincerely,

Kevin Pernía
